

KIDNAPPED

Boy Is Located In Mt. Vernon By His Father

With The Assistance Of Officer McElroy

Lad Left His Home Near City Of Pittsburg

On September 4 With An Umbrella Mender

And Found In The "Jungles" In Mt. Vernon

Earl Mills, aged about 15 years, kidnapped from his home in Windbar, Pennsylvania, near Pittsburg, on the afternoon of September 4, by an umbrella mender, was found in this city Sunday afternoon and there was a happy reunion between father and son in the "jungles" near the B. & O. railroad bridge, just south of the city.

S. M. Mills, father of the boy, and S. W. McMullen, chief of police of Windbar, Pa., arrived in Mt. Vernon Sunday afternoon on the 12:25 C. A. & C. train from Millersburg and sought the assistance of Lieutenant of Police McElroy and to him they told the story concerning the kidnapping of the boy and expressing the firm belief that the lad was located somewhere in Mt. Vernon. Officer McElroy took the two men to the "jungles" where a large number of hoboes were in camp and there in the midst of the group of tramps was the young lad. Father and son were soon reunited and Mr. Mills expressed the desire that a picture be taken of the tramps and of his son. A local photographer was secured and the picture was taken.

The father and the son and Chief McMullen left Sunday night for their home in Windbar, Pa.

No arrests were made in this city for the reason that the umbrella mender, who kidnapped the boy deserted him about three weeks ago. It was on the afternoon of September 4, that young Mills left East Pittsburg, Pa., on a Pennsylvania train in company with the umbrella mender.

The father heard nothing concerning his son until about three weeks ago when he received a letter dated Beach City, in which a tramp had taken interest in the boy and had written that the man who kidnapped the boy had left him, but that he was being well cared for by the party of tramps. This gave the father a clue and he started at once in company with Chief McMullen in search of his son. He visited Beach City and later visited all the hobo camps along the line of the Pennsylvania railroad, reaching Millersburg early Sunday morning. There they learned that the boy had been seen in a hobo camp, but that the tramps had moved on to Mt. Vernon. Coming on to this city Mr. Mills was successful in locating his son and the boy was extremely glad to return home with his father.

FAITHFUL DEVOTION

To Interests Of The People Calls For Representative Gotshall's Re-election

No one will challenge the proposition that if faithful devotion to the interests of the public calls for an endorsement at the polls, that Representative Samuel R. Gotshall has fully earned such a recognition at the hands of the voters of Knox county at the coming election.

REPRESENTATIVE S. R. GOTSHALL

During the sessions of the legislature Representative Gotshall redeemed all pledges he made in the campaign two years ago. He introduced several important bills, some of which became laws of Ohio. But it isn't altogether the introduction of bills that makes an ideal representative, as only a comparatively small per cent of the myriad of laws proposed are enacted. It is the member of the legislature who carefully examines all measures that are introduced and sifts the good from the bad, supporting the former and rejecting the latter, always taking into account the best interests of the people, and especially the people who elected him to represent them—this is the sort of representative who best serves his immediate constituents and the state at large.

When Mr. Gotshall became a member of the legislature two years ago, there was a law that gave to the members mileage at the rate of twelve cents a mile. Among the bills Representative Gotshall introduced was one to cut the mileage down to two cents per mile, the exact amount of the railroad fare. He vigorously supported the proposition for two cent mileage. The legislature passed such a law.

Not only did Representative Gotshall introduce a two cent mileage bill, but he declined to receive mileage under the twelve-cent mileage law and paid his railroad fare out of his own pocket. He never accepted mileage at any rate during the sessions of the legislature.

On all the bills before the legislature at the two sessions, Representative Gotshall's vote was always in the interests of the people—not a single vote of his was otherwise. His devotion to the people surely calls for a substantial endorsement in the form of re-election on November 8th.

SEVERE

Injury Sustained By Employee Of Bridge Works

William Code, a workman at the Mt. Vernon Bridge works, sustained a very painful injury while at work on Saturday afternoon. Mr. Code was busy in company with another workman, lifting a heavy piece of iron, when it was accidentally allowed to fall, alighting on Mr. Code's right hand. The thumb was dislocated and the hand was otherwise badly bruised and lacerated. Dr. Singrey was called to render surgical attention.

6 TO 0

The Score Mt. Vernon High School Was Defeated

By The Sturdy Newark Team On Saturday

Made Contest Somewhat Uninteresting

Some Of The Scores Made By College Teams

The second football game of the season was played by Mt. Vernon High and lost to the Newark High school team at Hiawatha park on Saturday afternoon, by a score of 6 to 0. Both teams, which took part in the contest, were lacking in speed and accuracy both in starting plays and in handling the ball, making the game loose and at times, uninteresting. One feature so very noticeable, which occurred on almost every down, was a wordy battle over some technical point in the rules. The disputes were so frequent that the interest, which might otherwise have made the game a good one, detracted much and made it in all a somewhat disappointing entertainment for the spectators.

The new game, as it has been made by the rules committee, was first seen by the majority of Mt. Vernon people on this occasion and it is needless to say that it is not nearly as good as the old style of play from the spectators' standpoint, although it will be of great benefit to ill-trained players, who require an intermission to recuperate their strength, which they would not have lost, had they prepared themselves properly to take part in a vigorous contest of strength, speed and skill.

The referee's whistle blew at three o'clock for beginning of play. Mt. Vernon received the kickoff on their five yard line and returned the ball ten yards before being downed. Two downs followed and then the ball was punned. The first penalty was inflicted on the locals on this third play as the Newark quarterback signaled for a fair catch of the punt, but was tackled. The result was a five-yard penalty. Newark attempted a forward pass but Mt. Vernon received it on a fumble. After this, the struggle was even, the ball being kept about in the middle of the field, neither team seeming to have an advantage. The quarter ended with the ball in Mt. Vernon's possession on the 55-yard line.

The second quarter started with a rush and the locals seemed to have gained fresh strength and for a time, appeared to be stronger both on offensive and defensive, than their opponents. This period of play was marked by some brilliant runs by the Mt. Vernon backs but the gains were not sufficient to make the required distance over the Newark goal. The half ended with the ball in Mt. Vernon's possession on Newark's 30 yard line.

The third period was rather uninteresting, the most of the penalties and arguments occurring at this time. Newark received the kickoff but was unable to advance the ball and was forced to punt. Mt. Vernon fumbled but again recovered the pig skin and after a series of line plunges by Capt. Englehardt, the oval was taken to the opponent's three yard line, where another technical point in the rules was again discussed for about five minutes, after which the ball was given to Newark. These occurrences were simply times of hard luck for the locals and were the direct means of losing the game. Newark punted to the middle of the field, where the third quarter ended with the ball in Mt. Vernon's possession.

The final and disastrous quarter began with everything apparently in the home team's favor. The ball was rushed to Newark's ten-yard line, where it was again lost on a fumble. Newark punted to their own forty yard line and regained the ball. Here on a fluke, it was carried around the end to Mt. Vernon's ten yard line where a forward pass was made and after running through the crowd, the opposing quarterback made a touchdown. Keys kicked goal, making the score, Newark 6, Mt. Vernon 0.

After the touchdown, only three minutes of the game were left to play. Newark received the kickoff and on another fluke the ball was again carried to the local's three yard line. At this point, a stonewall stand was made and Newark was held for downs. A punt resulted and the remaining time was consumed in fruitless attempts to penetrate the Newark line. The game ended with the ball in Newark's possession on Mt. Vernon's 40 yard line. The feature noticeable in the game was the brilliant playing of Captain Englehardt, Halfback Altenburg and Tackle Reeder for the locals.

The crowd of spectators at the game on Saturday afternoon was another disappointing feature as very few persons turned out to cheer the home team to victory. The few, who were in attendance, acted as though they were witnessing a novelty of some kind and were undecided whether they should cheer or climb trees to escape some strange terror, which they had never before seen or heard of. This is one thing, which Mt. Vernon has always lacked on the foot ball field. An organized crowd of students to cheer for the home team is always appreciated and as helpful to the team as the brilliant work of the contestants is to the spectators. The little squad of Newark rooters made more noise than all of the local rooters put together.

Enough has been said about the bad side as there were many redeeming qualities shown by the teams taking part in the struggle. Hard practice and work was shown by the fact that the players had been drilled in the new game, which is sometimes termed "the game of 1910" instead of football. Few direct violations of the rules were made, most of the penalties being made for violations, which have been common for many years.

PRISONERS

In The County Jail Have A Fist Encounter

Robert Mulvaney, who has for some time been a steady boarder at the county jail, broke the general monotony of things on Sunday afternoon and determined to either whip somebody or get whipped himself. Following out his determination, an argument was started with a fellow prisoner Jas. Deal, the difference of opinion became too great and the men came to blows. After a few minutes of fighting, Mulvaney made a knock-out swing at his antagonist, striking him on the forehead with his fist. The blow somewhat dazed the man who received it, but Mulvaney fared a great deal worse. The knuckles on his hand were severely bruised and two bones were broken. On Monday morning, he was not feeling in a great mood for fighting.

ARREST

Of W. F. Ries, A Socialist Leader And Lecturer

For Using Bad Language Over The Telephone

While In This City On Saturday, October 8

Woman Arrested On Charge Of Petit Larceny

Other Police Court Notes Of Interest

W. F. Ries of Toledo, a Socialist speaker and lecturer, was arrested in the city of Columbus Sunday afternoon at the conclusion of a speech at Goodale park, at the instance of the Mt. Vernon authorities and was brought to this city on the evening train by Chief of Police L. J. Dermody to answer to a charge of using obscene and profane language over the telephone.

The affidavit for Ries' arrest was sworn to by Miss Nellie Welsh, chief operator at the office of the Mt. Vernon Telephone company.

The allegation is made that on Saturday, October 8, Ries put in a call over the line of the Mt. Vernon Telephone company from the Curtis Hotel and that he used obscene and profane language to the chief operator, Miss Welsh. Ries' conversation was heard by the day clerk, Harry Drake.

The affidavit for Ries' arrest was at once made, but it was only on Sunday that he was located by Chief of Police Dermody in the city of Columbus and at the conclusion of a speech which he was making at Goodale park, he was placed under arrest.

Ries was arraigned before Mayor Mitchell late Sunday evening and waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury. His bond was fixed at $500 and was signed by C. O. Beum and I. M. Montgomery.

Ries was in Mt. Vernon on October 7 and 8, traveling with Fred D. Warren, Socialist, an editor of the "Appeal to Reason," who delivered a speech in the K. of P. armory.

Petit Larceny Case

Cora Milner was arrested at 2:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon by Lieutenant of Police Robert McElroy on a charge of petit larceny. The affidavit for her arrest was made by Jesse Potter, who alleges that the woman "lifted" the watch from his pocket. The woman's hearing was set for Monday morning at 9 o'clock and she was released on her own recognizance.

Flourished Corn Cutter

Officers Hough and George were called to West Front street Saturday night where Samuel Wescott was raising a disturbance at his home. He was considerably under the influence of liquor and had a large corn cutter in his hand when the officers arrived on the scene and threatened to slash them to threads. The wagon was called and Samuel and the corn cutter were conveyed to the county jail.

Jumped Board Bill

James Holmes, a fireman on the C. A. & C. railroad, was arrested in this city on Saturday night by Lieutenant of Police McElroy at the instance of the officials at Orrville where the man was wanted on a charge of jumping a board bill amounting to about $15. Holmes settled the bill with Officer McElroy and the costs in the case and was released from custody.

One Plain Drunk

One plain drunk was arrested by the police Saturday night and locked up in the county jail. Monday morning he received the usual fine of $5 and costs by the mayor.

LIGHTNING

Rendered A Young Boy Unconscious

During The Storm Sunday Evening

Master Robert Wright, residing on Coshocton avenue, was rendered unconscious by a stroke of lightning on Sunday evening during the severe electrical storm. At about five o'clock, Master Robert was playing in the yard at his home, when a terrific flash of lightning suddenly struck nearby. The boy was stunned and remained unconscious for some time. A physician was immediately called in attendance and on examination, it was found that the boy's right foot had been burned by the electricity. Had he been a few feet nearer to the spot where the bolt struck, the result would have undoubtedly been fatal.

KNOCKED

Down By Lightning And Rendered Unconscious

Joseph Mansfield Had Exciting Experience

Mr. Joseph Mansfield, proprietor of the Mansfield restaurant on West High street, was one of the unfortunate persons to receive a shock during the severe electrical storm, which swept over this part of the country on Sunday evening. At about 9:30 o'clock, Mr. Mansfield stepped to the door, leading to the street, to witness the storm. He had taken his position and had remained there for only about one minute when a flash of lightning blazed apparently directly in front of him. He was hurled backward over a chair and fell to the floor in an unconscious condition and remained in that state for about an hour. A physician was called in attendance and Mr. Mansfield was revived to such a degree that he able to be moved to his home only a short distance away. On Monday morning, he was feeling much better, but was unable to leave his bed.

The bolt, which did the damage, did not appear to reach to the ground but struck the trolley wire in front of the restaurant and ran down a wire on a post by the side walk. The trolley wire was not damaged.
